Short-Update: As can be seen from the white candle on Monday – and red candle on Friday and yesterday (Tuesday) the buying – versus the selling power is almost equal. Trading tolerance – spreads – is getting narrower. I call this indecision. So while this is happening – the fast- and slow stochastic are entering the oversold area which should help to build positive momentum. By the way, the 50 days moving average is slowly moving up – now at 0.10 – the fundament is getting stronger.
